

BOMB CASE EVIDENCE CRUMBLES IN COURT

Efforts of Prosecution to Offer Exhibits to Jury Are Halted by Council for Billings in a Sharp Clash of Words

DUNNE RULES ON IMPORTANT ISSUE

State Forced to Adopt New Tactics in Battle to Prove the Defendant Had Knowledge of Materials Found on Street

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The prosecution in the trial of Warren K. Billings, accused preparedness agent, was on the defensive this morning, for Assistant District Attorney Brennan was battling for the success of one of the state's most vital points, the admission as evidence of the bullets, ball-bearings and other missiles hurling death and injury into the throngs at Stuart and Market street July 23, when the suitcase bomb exploded. Superior Judge Dunne ruled these out yesterday upon objection of Chief Counsel Maxwell McNutt for Billings, who forestalled every effort on the part of the state to have witnesses identify the missiles as portions of the bomb.

McNutt's objection was that no connection between the missiles and Billings has been established. In an effort to establish his right to enter the scraps of metal as evidence, Brennan submitted a stack of legal authority for the judge's consideration. He also expected to secure an admission of this vital evidence by showing that similar bullets and automobile ball-bearings were found in the possession of Billings and his alleged co-conspirators.

Owing to the ruling of Judge Dunne, the state's evidence yesterday being merely asked to identify the missiles as those found on Market street or taken from the bodies of the bomb victims. Even then McNutt, in cross-examination, asked if the ball-bearings might not have fallen from some automobile on Market street. Physicians were also called to establish the corpus delicti.

One of the features of yesterday's trial was the hearing of Robert Minor, a New York artist, who is here to raise money to defend the accused conspirators, from the courtroom. Billings is on trial on the specific charge of the murder of Myrtle Van Loon, one of the bomb victims. The occurrence of the explosion, and the preliminary details were gone over quickly with the testimony of police officers and others. Surgeons at the emergency hospital testified as to the nature of the injuries of the victim.

FIRST TRIAL. Billings' trial is the first of those set by the district attorney. Israel Weinberg, Thomas J. Mooney, Mrs. Rena Mooney and Edward D. Nolan will all be placed on trial after the Billings case is finished, it is declared.

The jury trying the case is as follows: William F. Humbert, retired decorator; 322 Haight street. Peter A. Finnigan, retired mining man; 2439 Sacramento street. John T. Adeock, retired lumber clerk; 923 Valencia street.

P. W. McHardy, retired harness dealer; 1535 Page street. Hugh Fraser, retired carriage salesman; 624 Golden Gate avenue.

William Baker, retired saloon-keeper; 798 Capp street. Charles Dobbler, retired capitalist; 609 Geary street.

Isaac Oberdoener, automobile broker; 1574 Grove street. Edward F. Franks, realty dealer; 98 Fillmore street.

Louis Koenig, grocer; 110 San Jose avenue. Fred Raschen, retired grocer; 1233 Ellis street.

William T. Balling, manufacturer of bar coats; 412 Duboce avenue.

PROMISE SURPRISES. Surprises may be sprung within the next few days by the defense in the trial.

"There will be something done," admitted Robert Minor, when questioned today.

"However, Attorney McNutt is the only man authorized to speak on the matter."

McNutt refused to divulge the nature of the coming events.

"Just sit tight and watch," said Frederic Schulberg, one of the defense leaders.

"Something is going to drop soon. There is much under the surface of this case that has not yet appeared."

The trial is attracting scores of well-known lights from all branches of radicalism. Scores of poets, dreamers, artists and other members of San Francisco's Bohemian life are lending an interesting coloring to the court throng.

They are bringing notebooks and sketch pads and preparing to turn the drama of the trial into sketches of verse and art. Many arrive with the opening of the courtroom door, remove their hats and prepare to spend the day.

This morning more witnesses were called to identify bits of lead and metal which the prosecution is endeavoring to prove composed the bomb which exploded at Stuart and Market street.

Each of the witnesses, as he was called, was asked the circumstances

Waif Cries His Way Into Millions

Abandoned Baby May Now Be Adopted

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A two-day-old baby boy, abandoned on the doorstep of William Salomons, wealthy banker, last night, probably will be adopted by the Salomons and become an heir to the banker's millions. It was said at the Salomon home in Fifth avenue today.

A dinner party was in progress at the Salomon home when a mailcarrier, arriving with some letters, heard a cry in the vestibule and discovered the infant. The butler was about to carry the baby to the police station when Mrs. Salomon rushed out in an evening gown. She cuddled the youngster in her arms, the cry ceased and what all the Salomon guests swore was a smile appeared on the baby's face. That settled it. Mrs. Salomon sent for a nursing bottle and her limousine. The baby was wrapped in a blanket and the Salomons and their guests, still in evening clothes, headed for the nearest police station to find out how to adopt a baby.

FRENCH TAKE BOUCHAVESNES IN HARD FIGHT

Capture of Combles and Peronne Within Fortnight Confidently Expected

PARIS, Sept. 13.—Continuing their great drive on the front of Combles and Peronne, the French have captured the whole of the village of Bouchavesnes, midway between Combles and Peronne, despite the German's most desperate resistance. It was officially announced today. Early this morning the French pushed further eastward, capturing the Bois Labe farms near the Peronne-Bapaume-Bethune highway, by a brilliant bayonet charge. The French gains in the great attacks that began yesterday afternoon are of the greatest importance. The positions carried are the last of the strongly fortified German third line of defense between Combles and Peronne. All the positions now held by the Germans back of this line have been built under the unceasing fire of French artillery and consequently are not nearly so strong as the old line. The capture of both Combles and Peronne within a fortnight is expected by some military critics if Foch continues his hammering north of the Somme.

Federal Government to Hear Bakers' Plea

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Announcement was made today by bakers, who maintain that they must increase the price of bread or face bankruptcy, will be given an opportunity to show Charles F. Cline, United States district attorney, the figures to support their assertions. They may produce their report for examination by government experts. It was said.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 13.—Loaves of bread, which formerly sold for five cents were today advanced to six cents in Milwaukee. In some cases where the loaf has been reduced in weight the price remains unchanged.

MARINERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Charles Jefferson Harrison of San Antonio made a full confession of the train robbery with which he was charged in the United States court here today before Judge Dayton. Sentence of twelve years' imprisonment in the penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., was imposed. The crime was the robbery of a Baltimore & Ohio train near Central Station, W. Va., on October 3, 1915. More than a hundred thousand dollars in unsigned bank notes was taken from the express car.

Skylight Aids Thieves in $1500 S. F. Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A blood-stained rope dangling from a skylight in the store of Henry Kahn & Co. operators, 444 Market street, told the story of a $1500 burglary this morning. The thieves, who sustained an injury in the breaking of several panes of glass, lowered themselves into the store room and completely ransacked the place.

OPEN WINDOW SAVES LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—John Thirl, who arrived yesterday from Russia, accidentally turned on the gas in a room at 511 Pacific street this morning. He was found unconscious. An open window saved his life.

governing his finding of the bit of bomb and was asked to identify it. H. S. Merritt of the Chronicle building, explained that the piece of metal he turned over to the police had been taken out of his own clothes, he having been struck but not injured by the bomb.

Dr. J. W. C. Eldenmiller of 111 Post street, identified a bit of metal taken from M. Moffitt, one of the victims. The physician had extracted the missile and readily recognized it. Others who gave testimony were Sergeant of Police George Russell, Patrolman Michael Desmond, Nicholas Bosnove of 914 Valencia street, R. J. Dillon of 3833 Eighteenth street and Charles Von Moss, 174 Third street.

WAR CHIEFS IN COUNCIL WITH KAISER

Combined Grand Offensive of Allied Nations to Be Met by Teutons; Leaders Discuss Means to Unify Campaign

Word Received of Slav Drive on Halitz Being Checked; Invasion of Rumania Gains; Bulgarians Resist Attacks

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—A Russian destroyer has been sunk in the Gulf of Riga by a German airship squadron, says a report given out by the German admiralty today. German naval planes have attacked Russian Sea forces in the Black Sea.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—In the first encounter between Bulgarian and Italian troops the present war two Italian companies were defeated near Dama and thirty prisoners taken by the Bulgarians, said an official statement from Sofia today.

PLAN GREAT DEFENSIVE. BERLIN, Sept. 13.—The combined "grand offensive" of the allies will be met by a combined "grand defensive" of the Central Powers, who will swing to the attack when the proper time comes.

The great war council being held at the Kaiser's headquarters on the eastern front is for the purpose of unifying the direction of all military movements by armies of the central powers. Since early in the war the central powers have acted completely in accord with their military movements, making it possible to beat off vasty enemy forces. The scheme of unified offense and defense will be made even more effective as the result of the present conference, attended by war chiefs of the four empires warring on the allies.

Most favorable reports were brought to the war council from the different fronts. The Austro-German commanders sent word that the latest Russian offensive around Halitz has been stopped. It was learned that the German and Rumanian invasion of Rumania continues to make progress while the Bulgarians are successfully resisting British and Serbian attacks in Greece.

The capture of the Rumanian fortress of Sistavia is regarded as of special importance by the German and Bulgarian commanders. The position is considered the key to Bucharest.

IMPORTANCE TO COUNCIL

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The greatest importance is attached to the present conference at the Kaiser's headquarters on the eastern front by correspondents stationed in Holland and Switzerland.

Besides the Kaiser, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, King Ferdinand and Crown Prince Boris of Bulgaria and Enver Pasha, Turkish war minister, several leading diplomats of the central powers are reported in consultation. The Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph reported yesterday that the German chancellor will reveal some of the results of the conference when he opens the next Reichstag session September 23.

Rome heard from Swiss sources yesterday that the Kaiser called the conference because he was disturbed by hints that Bulgaria was threatening to sue for a separate peace. One Swiss correspondent reported that the Kaiser ordered King Ferdinand to attend the conference with the crown prince as hostages to give assurance that Bulgaria would not abandon the German forces within her boundaries to attacks by the allies.

Troop Withdrawal Is Conference Problem

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 13.—The American and Mexican commissioners here today dug more deeply than heretofore into the direct problem of the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico.

General Bliss, assistant United States army chief of staff, said here today, primed with facts as to border conditions and recommendations for future border patrol. He is understood to concur in General Funston's recommendation that General Pershing's forces be withdrawn, that military be substituted for regulars on the border, and that the patrol be reduced as much as possible to insure safety.

Close observers of the conferences believe the Mexicans have carefully laid the groundwork, not alone for the withdrawal of the American expedition, but likewise for an American loan.

Prominent Suffragette Is N. Y. Suicide

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. Miss Grace Nevins, a prominent suffragette, was found dead in her apartment here today. The police report the case as one of suicide, attributable probably to ill-health. Miss Nevins came here from La Crosse, Wisconsin, about fifteen years ago.

SANTA CRUZ FORESTS IN PATH OF FIRE

Hundreds of Volunteers Making Valiant Efforts to Prevent Blaze Spreading; Big Basin Country Is in Danger of Ruin

The Country Homes of Mayor Rolph and G. M. Letcher of San Jose in Danger; Deering Moves Hidden Villa Valuables

SAN JOSE, Sept. 13.—The forest fire has crossed the gulches in the Santa Cruz mountains and is sweeping up the hills on the other side, according to a telephone message received here at noon today from the Letcher ranch. At that time it was stated that the telephone poles were burning, and anticipated this would be the last message they would be able to get through, the fire fighters appealed for more assistance, and asked for provisions to last three or four days.

Telephone advices from the fire zone this afternoon showed that the fire is steadily getting worse. Clarence H. Letcher, one of the men whose property is endangered, appealed to Charles Deering to urge Governor Johnson or the state fire warden to rush aid to the weary fire fighters, declaring that, unless this is done, the magnificent redwood forests in the Big Basin will be doomed. Deering, who is in San Francisco, will act immediately. Mrs. Deering, who remains at "Hidden Villa," declared over the telephone this afternoon that the situation is getting desperate. A new fire is now threatening the Deering summer home there.

GUARD COMMUNICATION

The telephone company today ordered men to patrol its lines in the fire district and to prevent the destruction of poles and the consequent cutting off of communication. At last reports the flames were close to a ridge of the Santa Cruz mountains which leads almost directly into the Big Basin redwoods.

Latest reports stated the country homes of G. M. Letcher of San Jose and Mayor Rolph Jr. of San Francisco were among those in imminent danger.

Arthur Miguel, fire warden, decided early today to appeal to the war department for army assistance if the blaze is not checked.

Twice the blaze has seemed under control, only to spring into new life and rush upward into the mountains, destroying all in its path.

"If the fire crosses the summit and gets into the Pescadero," said Andrew P. Hill, president of the Sempervirens Club of California, last night, "nothing on earth can save more than a hundred thousand acres of virgin timber, which is worth upward of $15,000,000. It is just across the slope to this virgin forest, which has not been touched by fire in decades, and it would go like matchwood, probably clear to the Big Basin. Much of this timber contains groves nearly as valuable to nature lovers as the Big Basin and La Honda. Once across the summit and into the Pescadero country, La Honda, with its wonderful trees, would also be in imminent peril."

EXPECT TURNING POINT

Louis Oneal, San Jose attorney, on whose ranch the fire started Sunday afternoon and which has been almost entirely burned over, said that the turning point in their efforts to check the flames would come when the fire reaches the Montebello road, dividing the chaparral, mesquite and oak growth from a dense forest of pine and redwood. If the fighters can prevent the fire from crossing the road the flames will eventually burn themselves out.

Over the ridge along the Yeagous creek the home of Charles J. Deering, vice-president of the United Trust Company, was only a thousand feet away from the fire. Deering, with several men, is standing guard ready to backfire if necessary and only as a last resort to save his home. Backfiring will mean the destruction of 1250 additional acres belonging to the bank.

Expecting that he will be unable to check the flames, Deering yesterday rushed four automobile trucks from San Francisco to his home, "The Hidden Villa," which was made famous by Bret Harte in his story "Marjua," and removed all his personal belongings.

FIRE NEAR HEADSBURG

HEADSBURG, September 13.—Headsburg today lies under a thick blanket of smoke rising from the several forest fires that are burning in this vicinity. Thus far no reports of serious damage have been received, though the flames have swept over considerable areas, but fears are felt that such damage may result if the fires increase in size. There are reports today, however, as being practically under control. The nearest fire to Healdsburg is on Mile Creek, about eight miles from here. Another is burning in Geyserville district, near Skaggs Springs, and a third near Sweetwater Springs. Hundreds of volunteers are fighting the flames.

Girl Bride, Hushed for Years by Fear, Tells at Last of Mountain Murder

MRS. CLARA MAY LILEY, girl bride, whose secret of years sets police machinery into action.

Thrills Crowd Wife's Tale Offers Help to Sheriffs

Mrs. Clara May Liley, 20 years of age, has told her remarkable story of her early marriage to a man she is now convinced was a murderer. She has asked Attorney Charles Shortridge to obtain a divorce for her and declares that she is ready to do all within her power to apprehend the murderer of Thomas Raffleton, even if that man prove to be her husband. This is her story:

It was not until recently that I fully realized the import of my husband's actions and sayings shortly after our marriage.

It was when I read in the Sacramento papers about the arrest of a man named Bremer, and saw a picture of the murdered man, which was exactly like photos my husband brought to me about the time of the murder, that it began to dawn upon me what I had been through.

My husband left our home at Acampo on April 17, 1911. He returned on the 18th and got his bicycle, leaving again and returning about 10:30 o'clock on the night of April 20.

He had a canvas sack with him, containing many things, among them a deer skin, a revolver, a hunting knife, a bloody shirt, which he had worn away; photographs of a young man which I now have, and many other trinkets. He gave me a diamond ring. The stone from that was stolen from me mysteriously some time ago, together with other articles that he gave me.

When he came home he appeared nervous and wanted to sleep in the house. We changed our bed into the house and he slept with a revolver under his pillow.

Before that, and while he was taking the articles from his sack, he laid a hunting knife down on the table in our room. I picked it up to examine it. He said, "Put it down!" I asked him why and he said, "That is human blood on it. I have killed a man."

TANGLE OF CRIME IS UNRAVELED BY MAID

Seeks Divorce From Man at Whose Door She Lays the Killing of Young Miner in American River Fastness

BANK DEFALCATION PART OF MYSTERY

Freed of Her Terror, Young Woman Pours Astounding Account Into the Ears of Officers Now Probing Clews

After slumbering in the immature mind of a girl bride until she reached her majority, clews to the mysterious murder of a young miner in a mountain cabin near Auburn, Placer county, five years ago, and to the unsolved $50,000 defalcation of a Dunsmuir bank clerk, who has evaded apprehension, are now being closely followed by Sheriff Barnett of Alameda county and Sheriff George McAulay of Placer county as the result of disclosures made by Clara May Trammell-Liley to Attorney Charles Shortridge.

Statements made to the authorities by Mrs. Liley proved to be of such a startling nature that the machinery of the law has been set in motion on a case which it was believed had been closed through impossibility to obtain any tangible leads.

Mrs. Liley is seeking an annulment of her marriage to Edward John Liley, whom she married at Oroville January 20, 1911, and who died January 20, 1911, that year. She asserts her husband was the murderer of Thomas Raffleton, a young miner and former theatrical man, in a lonely cabin near Auburn on April 20, 1911. The remains of Raffleton were found ten days after the murder and a country-wide search was instituted.

SUSPECT IS FETTERED. It was not until more than a year later, in July, 1912, that a suspect, Herman F. Bremer, was extradited from Montgomery, Ala., and brought to face a grand jury at Auburn. He was released largely upon the testimony of Ben Tupper, then an employee of the Bank of Dunsmuir at Dunsmuir, Shasta county, who dropped from sight a few days after $50,000 of the bank's funds had disappeared.

Through the years since her marriage, Mrs. Liley, who wed at the age of 14, has feared to recount her experiences or tell her story, believing that her husband would return and take vengeance upon her. She thinks he did return once and take tolltale papers and jewelry which she had in her trunk. That is but one feature of her remarkable story.

Upon hearing the story of the girl, who is now scarcely 20 years of age, Attorney Shortridge advised her to present the facts to the authorities, with the result that Sheriff Barnett commenced an investigation, with the assistance of Deputy Joe Soares. The girl's story has been checked up to such a degree that those who have followed the case are confident that the murderer of young Raffleton is now identified. He is still at large, so far as is known, and steps are being taken to trace him.

MAY CLEAR MYSTERY

With the solution of the Raffleton murder it is further believed that the mystery of the Dunsmuir bank defalcation will also be cleared away. There are certain points to the case which the authorities are endeavoring to straighten out. Sheriff McAulay is due in Oakland today to confer with Sheriff Barnett, Attorney Shortridge and Mrs. Liley and her relatives on the subject of the murder.

Mrs. Liley is a pretty young woman with titian red hair, blue eyes and a clear complexion. She lived for the greater part of her life in the hill country and seems little more than a girl today in spite of her tragic experiences of early marriage and desertion by a husband who, according to her account, proved to be unworthy of her consideration.

PHILADELPHIA CASE

Aside from the California tragedies related in the girl's story to the authorities is an angle which harks back nearly five years ago to Philadelphia, where, she says, Liley told her that he had assaulted a police officer and made his escape from custody in order to get back to his bride. Mrs. Liley possesses mute evidence of the assault or tragedy, as it may have been, in the form of a policeman's helmet emblem bearing the legend, "Philadelphia Police, No. 224." She says that her husband claimed to have escaped by wearing the officer's clothes and with his money.

Mrs. Liley, who now lives with a sister at 1447 Twenty-first avenue, is (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

RECORD TRIP IS FINISHED BY HUGHES

Republican Presidential Hope Makes Longest Campaign Journey Ever Undertaken by Candidate for High Office

In Last Speech of First Tour He Tells Plattsborg Audience That Party Is Reunited and Assails Dem. Administration

By PERRY ARNOLD.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Elected with the result of the Maine election and highly pleased with his record-breaking campaign trip, Charles Evans Hughes, Republican Presidential nominee, returned to New York early today.

The candidate's trip, which took him from coast to coast and during which he made scores of speeches, kept him on the road just three days more than five weeks. He delivered the final speech of his trip in Plattsborg last night and, with Mrs. Hughes, stepped off the train here today somewhat tired but vigorous and enthusiastic.

Governor Hughes and Mrs. Hughes were driven direct to the Astor hotel, where they had breakfast, and the candidate then took up the task of a series of conferences with Republican leaders.

Chairman Wilcox of the national committee was the first of the leaders to see the candidate. He had also arranged for numerous other Republicans to confer with him and a busy day was in prospect.

WAIT CONFERENCE. Senator Smoot of Utah, Murray Crane, Frank Hitchcock and others were waiting for a word with Hughes in going over the campaign trip just closed and laying plans for a second tour to start next Monday. If all conferences are disposed of in time, the candidate hopes to visit Republican headquarters during the day and see "wheels go round." At 3 o'clock this afternoon, however, he will leave for his summer home at Bridgehampton, L. I., for a complete rest before again starting out on his quest for votes in November.

The candidate plans to avoid as many conferences as possible during the remainder of the week. During today it is expected his complete itinerary for the second trip will be worked out and announcement will then be made on his spring dates.

Hughes is well satisfied with the results of the trip just closed and has made it clear that he intends to continue the fight along the same line.

The trip is one of the longest, in time and mileage, ever taken by a Presidential nominee. Hughes left here on the night of August 5 and traveled thirty-nine days, and his errand took him from Portland, Me., to San Diego, Cal., from Canada to within sight of the Mexican border. He visited twenty-five states, spoke at all the chief centers of population in the country, exclusive of the South, and including the capitals of ten states, and traveled 11,494 miles by rail. In addition he averaged more than 400 miles a week by motor, or about 2500 miles, making the total mileage of his trip approximately 14,000 miles.

His trip was made over fifteen railroad systems. Since his departure from New York Hughes has undergone almost every sort of experience that usually befalls a candidate, and many out of the ordinary. He has donned a miner's togs at Butte and gone 3000 feet down into the earth, climbed mountains more than 12,000 feet high, attended state and county fairs and a national exposition, and spoken from almost every platform, including the rostrum of the great Mormon tabernacle in Salt Lake City. He has made 141 speeches and has been photographed thousands of times, once at dinner and several times with children in his arms.

He will continue to assail the administration's method of settling the threatened railroad strike by enactment of the eight-hour law, continue his assaults on the Democrats in connection with the civil service and attack the administration's Mexican policy. He regards his criticism of the administration as having been constructive as well as pointing out the weakness of Democratic rule and with the success in Maine, believes the people have been aroused with the justice of his attacks.

SECOND TOUR MONDAY. Starting on his second tour Monday, Hughes will have the Maine election to point to as proof of the reunion of the Progressive and Republican parties.

The candidate had given inordinate to preparation as a result of his visit to Plattsborg. He expressed his approval of such preparation camps and said he hoped might be established hereafter.

The second trip of the candidate will take about ten days, according to present plans. It is planned for him to hit the high spots in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin, returning to New York by September 29, when he will deliver the keynote address of the New York state campaign. The speech will be delivered before the Republican "unofficial" state convention to be called for that date at Saratoga.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is expected to campaign in the West last night, is expected today.

Betting Not Changed by Maine Election

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Betting on the outcome of the Presidential election was not materially changed by Monday's Republican victory in Maine. Conditions in various places were reported as follows:

Wall street—Hughes' supporters offered odds of 10 to 5 with no takers. Ten to eight with no Wilson money in sight, was the offering Saturday.

Brooklyn—Fred Schumm has $10,000 to place on Hughes at 5 to 6, but Wilson supporters want 2 to 1. He has $2000 to place on something better than even money that Hughes will carry New York state and $1000 at 7 to 5 that Whitman will be re-elected.

Charleston, S. C.—Wilson still remains a slight favorite, with little money being placed.

Omaha, Neb.—Betting at even money but few bets recorded; odds Wilson carries Nebraska.

Memphis, Tenn.—No large wagers made, although odds favor Wilson.

Denver, Colo.—Odds are 5 to 4 on Hughes; 1 to 2 Wilson will carry New York state and 10 to 6 Wilson will carry Colorado.

Philadelphia—No bets placed on strength of Maine election. Number of offers of 3 to 1 on Hughes standing uncovered were withdrawn before returns came in Monday night and have not been renewed.

BLOODSHED MARKS CHICAGO PRIMARY

Partisans in Ward Battle; the Police Await Riot Calls.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The bitter factional quarrels in both the Republican and Democratic parties flamed into the open in today's primary battle in Chicago.

In the 18th ward, ground of many historic battles, the first bloodshed occurred between the Dunne and Sullivan partisans. William Heller, a Sullivan follower, who was working for William Hinton for governor against Dunne, was stabbed in the arm and leg as he escaped. Heller was taken into custody.

In the Kenwood district a fist fight took place over the candidacy of E. L. Brundage, Republican candidate for attorney-general. When it was over, Attorney C. L. Day was taken into custody. There were many other clashes between ward workers, but none approached the dignity of a riot.

Police were held in reserve at stations ready to respond to riot calls. A million voters were expected to go to the polls throughout the state today. The cost of the Illinois primaries, it is said, will run close to $3,000,000.

Approximately 350,000 persons will vote in Chicago, according to Chief Clerk of Elections Dennis Egan. Reports of favorable weather conditions down state indicate a record primary vote will be cast.

One of the tightest races ever started for a Republican governorship was still in progress today as voters went to the polls to select one of three candidates to run in the November elections. Colonel Frank O. Lovden, Frank L. Smith and Morton Hull are the candidates.

On the Democratic side the race is just as hot. Sullivan Democrats have lined up against Governor Dunne, opposed for the nomination by William Hinton, and are going the limit to put their man across.

Aside from the governorship, the two major parties will be nominating a complete state ticket. Twenty-seven members of Congress, including two congressmen-at-large and twenty-five district members. Women will be entitled to vote only for local offices. By a ruling of County Judge Thomas Scully, voters will not have to give their ages. He said:

"It's placing a premium on youth to force people to give their ages. It isn't fair. Besides, if they don't want to tell their right ages they won't, so what is the use of having them tell it at all?"

NOMINATE GOVERNOR. DENVER, Colo., Sept. 13.—Latest returns today indicate that Governor George B. Carlson has been renominated as Republican candidate to head the state ticket by a very small plurality over Samuel D. Nicholson. The vote, in yesterday's primary election was extremely high.

Omaha, Neb.—Betting at even money but few bets recorded; odds Wilson carries Nebraska.

Memphis, Tenn.—No large wagers made, although odds favor Wilson.

Denver, Colo.—Odds are 5 to 4 on Hughes; 1 to 2 Wilson will carry New York state and 10 to 6 Wilson will carry Colorado.

Philadelphia—No bets placed on strength of Maine election. Number of offers of 3 to 1 on Hughes standing uncovered were withdrawn before returns came in Monday night and have not been renewed.

Seattle, Wash.—Odds even with no Wilson money offered.

Two Parties Perfect County Organizations

VALEJO, Sept. 13.—The Republican central committee met and perfected a temporary organization at Fairfield yesterday. Henry F. Stahl of Vallejo was selected chairman, John A. Browne of Vallejo secretary, and E. E. Long of Suisun treasurer.

FAIRFIELD, Sept. 13.—Democrats from different sections of the county who were elected county committeemen at the primary election on August 29 assembled at the courthouse yesterday and organized the new Democratic county central committee by the election of P. B. Lynch of Vallejo as chairman and James V. O'Hara of the same city as secretary. On account of his election as Assemblyman at the primary election, Oscar Hilton tendered his resignation as delegate to the Democratic state convention at Sacramento on September 19 and Attorney W. U. Goodman of Suisun was selected to represent Solano county at the convention.

Cities Make Bids for Armor Plant

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The tales of 155 cities were hurled into the wilderness of the naval board charged with the job of picking a site for the government's $11,000,000 armor plate plant today. The board, headed by Secretary Daniels, consists of Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary and Rear Admiral Strauss. Beginning at 9:30 o'clock they heard one delegation after another on the merits of their respective communities. Later they will read a great stack of bids, brought or sent from various cities.

Among the advocates present were: Senator Underwood and Representatives Bennett and Dent for Birmingham, Tuscaloosa and Gaston, Alabama; Senator James and Representative Bradley for Astoria, Oregon; Representative H. H. McPike, of chairman, John L. Callahan Jr., secretary, and R. A. Smith, treasurer. The other committee-men are H. A. Stahl, John C. Brown, Frank N. Todd, H. E. Hinz, J. K. McFarland, Carl H. Abbott, J. J. White, J. W. McManus, P. Freeman, C. F. Frazer and R. B. Bell.

Fairbanks Invades Southwest Again

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 13.—Clayton W. Fairbanks, Republican Vice-presidential candidate, was feeling good enough today to resume his campaign in the southwest. During last night's speech here Fairbanks was forced to stop talking for about fifteen minutes because of an attack of indigestion.

Wait for Davie, Jackson's Quip Doctor Says Mayor Can Appoint Petersen

Dr. F. F. Jackson, Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, advanced another reason today for his failure to make permanent the position of Acting Chief of Police Walter J. Petersen. He says that this is the true reason for his delay in making the appointment.

The real reason is that I am waiting for Mayor John L. Davie to assume control of the police department to permit him to make the appointment himself.

The quip has to do with the mayor's recent announcement that he was considering the introduction of an ordinance transferring the police force from the department of public health and safety to his department, that of public affairs.

The Mayor said at that time that if the council refused to adopt the ordinance he would invoke the initiative. In the meantime Petersen is still acting chief of police. He has been acting chief of police since May 15, when William G. E. Woods left the office. Dr. Jackson has not yet made up his mind as to the time he will make the appointment.

ORGANIZE CONTRA COSTA COMMITTEE

Republicans Meet at Martinez; Name Officers for the Year.

RICHMOND, Sept. 13.—Indorsing Sheriff R. R. Veale and John F. Galvin as state committeemen and pledging its support to Charles Evans Hughes for Governor, the Contra Costa County Republican Association met at Martinez yesterday afternoon.

A. P. Bray, Martinez attorney, was named as chairman; Levi Boswell of Richmond, vice-chairman; H. J. Kammerer of Crockett, secretary, and Judge W. F. Huber of Rust, treasurer. An executive committee of five, one from each superior district, was named: C. E. Milnes represents the First district; Francis George of Crockett, Second district; A. N. Patterson of Walnut Creek, Third district; David Gatto of Pittsburg, Fourth district, and H. W. Heldorn of Knightsen, from the Fifth district.

Recruits for Fifth Being Transferred

Since orders were given to muster out of federal service the Fifth Infantry regiment of the National Guards of California, the recruits accepted for this regiment are being transferred to the other units still on the border. The Second Infantry is now receiving most of these. Men with special qualifications, such as electricians, photographers, mechanics are being sent to signal corps and artillery companies.

Special calls have been sent out to the various recruiting offices for telegraphers and horse-shoers. The latter are needed badly, since the companies have received their outfits and horses.

The guard recruiting office, in the Bacon building is enlisting these men and forwarding them to the Presidio at San Francisco, to be equipped and sent to the border. Sergeant Philip A. Sootheran is in charge.

Hitchcock Is Not Guilty of Offense

C. E. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Hitchcock patrol and signal service in Piedmont and in the northern portion of the city, was found not guilty this morning by Judge George Samuels of running his automobile 40 feet into the gutter, after having been ordered to stop by a police officer. Hitchcock defended himself, and through cross-examination obtained admission from Officer Ottman, who made the complaint, that he wasn't sure of the car's position at the time. Hitchcock claimed that his summons to court was influenced by Charles Taggart, special policeman. The alleged offense was supposed to have been committed on the night of September 3, and the warrant was issued on September 8.

According to Hitchcock, Ottman admitted this morning that he was in bad temper when he spoke to the defendant about the muffler. Witnesses to the conversation were E. M. Dennis and Stanley Hitchcock.

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED CONSTANTLY

Used Resinol—Soon Entirely Cured

Mar. 10.—"I had itching eczema for almost four years. My shoulders, neck, arms and just below the knees were affected. It was simply a constant itching, burning, smarting sensation. The part below my knees was frightful. It would itch so, and with the least scratching become so sore, I could hardly stand it to bend them. I could not possibly sit down because I would naturally have to bend my knees, and that I could not do. I could hardly do my housework. I had tried different soaps, ointments, salves, liniments, etc., all too numerous to mention all to no avail. At last I learned of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and used them according to directions. That night I slept in peace, and in a short time I was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. G. C. Silsby, Box 30, Rockville, Md.

To Help Nature Shed a Bad Complexion

Beauty devotees are enthusiastic over the beautifying qualities of moricized wax. Nothing discovered within recent years accomplishes so much so quickly without harm, at such small expense. The principal reason for its wonderful merit is that it works in harmony with physiological laws. Instead of hiding complexion defects, it removes them. It actually takes off the aged, faded, sallow, freckled or blotchy surface skin, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience. It is nature's way of renewing complexion. When the natural process is retarded because of deficient circulation of nerve force, moricized wax comes to the rescue and hastens the skin shedding. The new complexion which appears is a natural one, youthful, healthy, exquisitely beautiful. If you've never tried moricized wax, get an ounce of it at the drug store, use at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning.

Another natural beautifying treatment—for wrinkled skin—is to bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered sassafras in a half pint witch-hazel. This is remarkably and instantaneously effective.—Advertisement.

ZAIMIS IS AGAIN HEAD OF CABINET

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The Greek cabinet crisis took a new turn today after King Constantine had accepted the resignation of Premier Zaimis, said a Central News despatch from Athens tonight. Zaimis finally yielded to persuasions of his friends and withdrew the resignation with the King's consent. He will reform the cabinet with new ministers of war and interior, supposedly of pro-ally sympathies.

The belief is entertained in the entente capitals that the retirement of the ministry is preliminary to the entrance of Greece in the war on the side of the allies. Recent despatches from Berlin and Vienna show that there, also, it is regarded as probable Greece will soon abandon neutrality and join the entente powers.

The precise causes which led to the resignation of the ministry have not been disclosed, on account of the exceptionally rigid censorship. A London despatch yesterday said M. Zaimis had complained that internal incidents were preventing him from dealing with the external situation. It is believed in London that his resignation was due to the fact that he accepted the premiership on the understanding that he was to maintain neutrality. In view of the Bulgarian occupation of Greek territory he had found this impossible.

Up to the time of the first despatch announcing that M. Zaimis had

Police Raid for Military Shirkers Visit Newmarket Race Course

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Military police carried out an extensive raid for shirkers from military service today at the Newmarket race course, just before the race for the classic St. Ledger was started.

Racing had been in abeyance for over a month and thousands of men attended. Everyone apparently of military age was compelled to give an account of himself.

presented his resignation his retirement was unexpected, for it was understood the premier had assumed dictatorial powers and was in an exceptionally strong position.

Political affairs reached a crisis after the Bulgarians invaded northern Greece. The followers of former Premier Venizelos served warning on King Constantine that he must abandon the advisers, who, it was said, had misled him and influenced him in favor of Germany. At the same time M. Venizelos expressed confidence in M. Zaimis, whom he asked the king to support. It was understood an agreement had been reached under which the Zaimis ministry was to continue in power with the strong support of the Venizelos party.

After the fall of the Venizelos cabinet last October on account of the king's disagreement with its policy favoring intervention in the war on the side of the allies M. Zaimis was called to form a cabinet.

He announced a policy of armed neutrality. The cabinet resigned in November, but in June M. Zaimis was again placed at the head of the government.

DROP PROBE OF L. A. MAYOR'S JOB

District Attorney Advises That Grand Jury Take No Action.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—Grand jury investigation of an alleged offer to "sell" the place of mayor of Los Angeles for $2500 and the right to name a new chief of police, has been dropped, it was announced today by Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney.

Woolwine said the case resolved itself into a question of veracity between Frederick J. Whiffen, former president of the city council and a wealthy real estate operator and Arthur J. Kuck, former assemblyman and candidate for state senator on the Democratic ticket.

The offer was alleged to have been made September 4, the day before the city council elected Frederick T. Woodman mayor to succeed Charles E. Sebastian who resigned. Whiffen was Sebastian's opponent at the last mayoralty election.

'POST BELLUM WAR' THEORY SCOUTED

German Shipping Head Tells of Trade Conditions to Follow Peace.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—The prospect of a "war after the war," as proposed by British newspapers and discussed at the economic conference of the allies at Paris, apparently is causing little anxiety in Germany, where the belief is expressed that natural commercial tendencies will soon overcome any artificial barriers which may be erected.

This view was voiced in a statement to the Associated Press today by Philip Heineken, director of the North German Lloyd Steamship line. Herr Heineken discussed plans being made in Germany to resume international trade after the coming of peace, and said there was no basis for apprehension that Germany might unload low priced goods in American markets.

Like all German shipping experts, Herr Heineken looks forward to an immense call for tonnage with the ending of the war. All Europe, he said, will be calling for raw materials to replenish exhausted stocks.

Herr Heineken's reply led to a question as to the probabilities of "dumping," which he scouted. He said that whatever stocks of manufactured articles might have been on hand at the outbreak of the war naturally had been utilized in Germany and that there had been no replenishment of these supplies.

Like most other German business men Herr Heineken felt that the proposed "war after the war" would have no great injurious effect on the future of German shipping lines. England, he declared, is too dependent on Germany for certain articles, and Germany in turn can supply herself in some ways with too much advantage for England to permit of the permanent supplanting of natural and mutually advantageous relations. Then too, he added, the proponents of a post-bellum economic war forgot that they may not be in a position when peace comes to dictate terms such as they now propose.

Were war to cease tomorrow, he continued, the North German Lloyd Line would be able to resume service with virtually the same tonnage as before the war.

During the conversation Herr Heineken prophesied that the building of a second isthmus canal by the United States would not be an improvable development of the none too distant future. He fears the Panama canal may prove too unreliable a route.

Realty Company Tells of Sale of Property

The announcement of the entrance into broader fields of the Realty Bonds and Finance Company was followed immediately by tangible results.

The company reports the sale of two homes, one now building on Bay View, another contemplated in East Piedmont Heights. In the exchange department, the company reports the consummation of a deal approximating $14,000, and several others pending. Optimism is felt in the sales force, as the general opinion is that the realty market in Oakland is taking on an extremely healthy tone, which should increase from now on.

The company's subdivision, Westmoreland Park, has shown in the last few days considerable activity. The management will have an announcement to make shortly of more than ordinary interest to holders of property in the apartment house district, near Fourteenth street.

PEACE HOPE HELD VAIN BY PONTIFF

Benedict Will Make No More Attempts to End War Until One Side Has Reached Stage Where Exhaustion Is Near

ROME, Sept. 12. — Pope Benedict will make no more efforts to end the war until he is convinced that one side or the other is approaching a stage of exhaustion. His Holiness is convinced it would be useless for him to renew peace overtures either now or in the immediate future. Before the allies began their great offensive, when peace talk was again prevalent in Europe, the pontiff made his last peace suggestions. They were received respectfully by the allied governments, but the Vatican was informed that the allies at that time could not listen to peace proposals in view of the German ideas of a proper settlement. It has been rumored repeatedly in the last 48 hours that Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, is about to resign. Under Secretary of State Todeschini will be Gasparri's successor. It is reported. Pietro Gasparri is 84 years old and was created a cardinal on December 16, 1907. He has held many prominent church offices and was a member of Pope Pius' famous commission for the codification of the Canon law.

First Through Route of Trains Announced

The first through routing from an Eastern city to Oakland was announced today, when news was made public that direct-routed cars are to run between Kansas City and Oakland, over the Missouri Pacific and St. Louis and Iron Mountain lines. This move puts Oakland on a par with San Francisco and Los Angeles as a recognized terminal. The announcement was made through Guy M. Powers, who will be the representative of the roads at this end of the route. A copy of the routing is on file at the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

Pastor Russell was the guest of several local clergymen during the forenoon.

VIVIAN MARTIN, WHO IS APPEARING AT T. & D.'S OAKLAND PHOTO THEATER IN A TALE OF KENTUCKY LOVE.

How many have seen the "poor mountain whites" hold a dance? The custom has so quickly died out that even in the little frequented Kentucky mountains it is a rare occurrence, but "The Stronger Love," featuring Vivian Martin, shows the best scene ever photographed of a country dance held in the district schoolhouse at night. The antics of the "mountain Johnnies" and their almost barbaric methods of "courtin'" seem too primitive to actually exist. The rest of this program which shows at T. & D.'s Oakland Photo Theater for the rest of this week is made up of a Pathe News, a comedy featuring Napoleon and Sally, Billie Burke in the eighteenth chapter of Gloria's Romance, entitled "The Pitter Truth" and the Florence Ross Fashions.

King's New Show to Open at Columbia

When Sunday afternoon the Oakland theater going public enter the Columbia Theater, which opens with Will King (formerly of Dillon and King) with a strong cast of favorites in his new musical reviews, it will find the fittings of the show house very different from what was formerly there. To put it in a word the entire theater has been beautifully decorated and renovated, everything from top to bottom has been retouched right up to date. The conventional form of most musical reviews is not followed by Director Alphonso, who believes in giving footlight admirers "something new," and the latter for the opening play had divided the show with three scenes, all of which are heralded as feasts of snappy sayings, rollicking dancing and singing numbers. The costumes also are ingenious and attractive in design and the wearers thereof are far more comely than the average feminine exhibit in the field of the chorus. For the painting of the stage scenery, Director Alphonso has selected no other artist than the well known Los Angeles brush-wielder, Frank H. Case, who has furnished the scenery for the most pretentious of first class musical productions and in every instance, they are colorful and in good taste.

Supreme Court Curbs Railroad Commission

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12. — Cities that have never transferred their powers over public utilities to the Railroad Commission still retain the power to provide for and regulate railway crossings within their boundaries. This was established by the Supreme Court's decision in a Los Angeles case. The decision has been awaited with interest in Los Angeles because on Friday the Railroad Commission is to hold in that city a hearing on the proposition of doing away with many Los Angeles railway crossings and establishing a union depot.

Mrs. Romer Makes Visit to Hospital

Mrs. Robert Romer, 1915 Oregon street, Berkeley, who last Sunday night wrecked her husband's liquor store in San Francisco, is still suffering from the incident, as she is suffering with a wounded right index finger which was injured when she applied a hatchet to a Carrie Nation to her spouse's establishment. The injury became infected and last night she applied for treatment at the emergency hospital. Steward Davidson dressed the wound.

BROOKS PRAISED IN TESTIMONIAL

Poet Offers Own Works and Is Applauded by Admirers at Hotel Oakland.

"Brooks is California's Burns—a twentieth century Burns. As Ayer claims the Scottish poet as his native son so can Oakland claim Brooks, since he has lived here as long. Similarity in the philosophy and insight into human affairs expressed in the writings of the two poets prompted an admirer of both to pay this tribute to Fred Emerson Brooks, poet and author, at a testimonial entertainment given in his honor in Hotel Oakland last evening. An Oakland and its beautiful environs inspired the poet in many of his finest works, so Oaklanders find inspiration in Brooks and it was perhaps the keen delight in and appreciation of his reclusive powers as much as a desire to honor him that attracted hundreds of his admirers from all over the county to last night's reception. Veterans of the Grand Army, who are never tired of hearing the poet recite, and for whom a section of the ballroom had been reserved, paid a pretty compliment to the poet when upon his appearance they stood up and saluted. Representatives of all walks of life were present. Many of the members of the Joaquin Miller Club were there, as were also members of other organizations whom he had often entertained.

MANY LETTERS CAME. From all over the county came letters congratulating Brooks. In jocular vein was couched one from William Jennings Bryan, a warm friend of the poet. "Send me 'The Grave Digger,'" wrote Bryan. "I want to compare his work with the labors of the Republican grave-digger who has been working on me for twenty years."

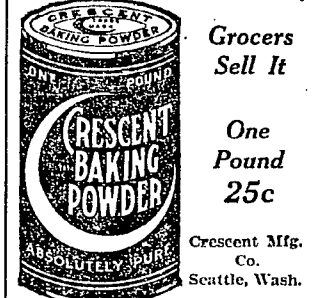

Other congratulatory letters were received from among others Lou J. Beauchamp, noted lecturer; S. R. Bridges, well known lyceum man of Atlanta Ga.; Francis Labadie, lecturer on French Canadian topics, New York City; J. E. Malins, Denver, Colo.; George H. Marston, connected with the Roycrofters Publishing House in New York; J. Stitt Wilson, former mayor of Berkeley; George Wharton James, traveler and lecturer; Fred G. Andrews, head of the Spiritualist Assembly of Lilyvale, N. Y., a boyhood friend of Brooks; and Charles E. Jones, president of the Tioga County Humane Society of New York. Brooks' association with Oakland and how he gained inspiration from California's beautiful plains and the murmuring of the Pacific were related by Judge E. M. Gibson in introductory remarks. Here in Oakland Brooks had written his first poem. Fate and circumstances later carried him back East, although he returned again to continue his work in the land where he had found inspiration. Brooks was the soul of the entertainment. The vivid philosophy and the broad humor of his poems no less than his deadening powers were never more appreciated and in response to repeated encores the poet recited many of his favorite pieces from a varied repertoire. He told first of his early days in Oakland and how he had been inspired to write his first poem through seeing a beautiful horse cantering along San Pablo avenue. A select musical program was given by talented musicians of the cast bay cities under the direction of Mrs. Alma A. Crowley.

TALENT CONTRIBUTED. All those who took part in the musical entertainment donated their services for the occasion. The artists were: Miss Emilie Halsey McCormack, pianist; Miss Barbara Miller, Miss Edith L. Woodward, Marion E. Teller and Gladys McDonald, vocal quartet, accompanied by Wilbur McColl and Miss Lucy Van De Mark, vocal soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Alma A. Crowley. The Brooks' testimonial was arranged by a committee, consisting of Judge E. M. Gibson, Joseph R. Knowland, Max Hicorinski, H. S. Bell and Mrs. J. De P. Teller. Cary W. Hartmann, a lifelong friend of the poet, who is visiting here from the East, had active management of the affair.

Tin Train Aids Boy's Cure Toy His Interest in Life

When "Little Billy," at the Baby Hospital, fifty-first and Dover streets, asked the Blue Bird Bureau in a particularly plaintive voice for a train "which would run" little did he realize the future. The future was good to him, and the train was soon running around the ward floor, with nurses, patients and doctors standing around in admiration. There is no strike on this railroad line—neither the president of the road or the members of the brotherhoods would stand for it. This railroad is for use—not to strike over. It is used pretty much all of the time.

And now the doctors stop to wind up the train and watch it run around and around in dizzy spirals. Nurses pause just a minute to ask Billy questions regarding time tables and other weighty matters which railroad men sometimes know. And the children in the ward—those who can move—play at engineer and brakeman and all the rest just as other children have played ever since toys have included model steam engines. Billy has given up his sole interest in the railroad so that everyone might own a share or two. He is a gentleman, is Billy—even though he has suffered pretty badly for three months. And the true test of a gentleman is to be gentle under fire. Billy has been under the fire of pain for the longest of times! He has watched the days come in and the nights go out with a patience that passes understanding. The doctors believe that his patience is in close relationship to a will—the will to get well.

The boy of six years is on the road to recovery. Of course he has just started along that road, and there are many bypaths and holes in the highway and turns back in the opposite direction. It was two or three weeks before the specialists could find out just what was the matter with Billy. After that, treatment began. And what a treatment! But Billy is sane.

His father is dead, to begin with. His mother has three others to care for. Obtaining work in Santa Cruz, she took the other youngsters with her there. They are being boarded with the mother's sister near that city. So Billy is alone in the world for the time being, but he is an optimist now that the train is there. The long siege and the sharp painful treatments have sunk into his insouciance beside the joy he is getting out of life.

MANY SERIOUS CASES. At the Baby Hospital they are aiding others just as badly off as Billy. To help them along, the directors and auxiliary members of the institution intend having a great fair in the auditorium October 19, 20, 21, where goods are to be sold, and the proceeds given over to necessary equipment. It is the ambition of those in charge to raise $10,000. A huge masked ball will be given on the last night.

A feature of the bazaar—one of many planned—will be the clinic mothers' table, on which will be placed for sale all the needlework and goodies made by grateful parents of children who have received treatment at the Baby Hospital clinic. The contributions are entirely voluntary and include even at this early date excellent examples of embroidery and needle-worked articles. Miss Bertha Wright, head of the clinic, will be in charge of this table.

HOSPITAL'S ANNIVERSARY. The second anniversary of the hospital's establishment will be celebrated on September 20. From small dimensions, it has grown into a large institution, with a ward and clinical division. Eyes, noses, ears, throats and teeth are looked into by clinical doctors. The dental clinic is one of the finest equipped in the state—all furnished by Alameda county dentists.

If George and Alice are good in the dental chair, while filling and drilling are going on—they are given a stick of chewing gum when they get out. All kinds of chewing gum are theirs to command as long as they are real good. Of course, if the long placers hurt—or the thin pliers pierce a nerve—and the patients jump a bit, that doesn't count against them. But should they howl for no reason whatsoever they don't get gum. And they do miss that gum with the bright labels and the sweet sticky pull!

WIFE'S TALE HOLDS NEW CRIME CLEW

a daughter of James Trammell, ice-maker at the Hotel Oakland. Her story, which has bearing upon the murder of Raffleton, coincides in detail with the records of the case in the hands of the Auburn authorities.

It was while she and her husband lived in Acampo, eight miles from Lodi, in April, 1911, that she claims he returned home one night with a canvas bag, from which he withdrew a conglomerate of contents, including a blood-stained shirt that he had worn away, a new hat, which she later identified as one shown to have been worn by the murdered man; a tanned deer-skin, a diamond ring, nugget pins and loose nuggets, a blood-stained hunting knife, a revolver and a rifle.

PICTURES ARE SHOWN.

These were among articles found stolen from the Raffleton cabin. In addition they produced a bundle of photographs, she says, several of which were of the same negative, showing Raffleton standing up, wearing a horse-shoe. The clothing worn by Raffleton in the picture was worn by Lilley, his wife says. She mentioned at the display as a 14-year-old girl would and when she started to pick up the hunting knife her husband, she declares, told her not to touch it as he had killed a man and the stains on the knife were human blood.

That night Lilley suggested that they change their sleeping place from a tent in the yard to an upper room in the house, where he went to bed with a revolver under his pillow.

The diamond ring he gave to his wife and the deer skin has also been located. The buttons on the coat worn by Raffleton were removed by Mrs. Lilley, she says, and she still has them, her husband leaving their home wearing the suit.

MAY SIMPLIFY CASE.

Mrs. Lilley will be shown photographs of Bremer taken by Sheriff McAuley when he was brought back from the East under suspicion of the crime. If Bremer proves to be her husband the case will be largely simplified, in the opinion of Attorney

Gold Braid Cargo On "Nancy Lee"

And Woe Is All for Mister McGee

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The good ship Nancy Lee is laboring northward hugging the coast and bearing a bit of brilliant cargo which has caused a heart-break, a disappointment and a huge laugh in San Francisco.

As the result of the departure of the Nancy Lee with the excess baggage aboard Lieutenant John McGee of the California naval militia, and in private life an assistant district attorney, will not sail today on the Battleship Oregon for a cruise. A mistake on the part of a luncheon is responsible for McGee's disappointment and the merriment of his fellows, who laughed so long and so loudly at their lieutenant in "cits" that he abandoned the jaunt on this briny.

McGee sent his uniform and store to a launch to be taken aboard the Oregon. The spangled uniform was hoisted aboard the Nancy Lee. Thus the gloom.

3000 ACRES BURNED. GRASS VALLEY, Sept. 13.—Three thousand acres of brush and timber land have been burned over in forest fires in Nevada county that, starting last Sunday are still sweeping unchecked over the country.

The fiercest fire is burning today along Green Horn Creek, where one ranch has been swept of its buildings and others are threatened. Hundreds of cords of wood have been destroyed. Men of the federal forest service are adding volunteer fire fighters in their battle with the flames.

Shortridge. The connection of Ben Tupper with Lilley would be another clue which may possibly result in the apprehension of both men. There is a large reward out for the arrest of Tupper and also for the slayer of Raffleton.

Lilley, described as 23 years of age at the time of the murder, 5 feet 9 inches in height, fair complexioned, with soft hands, a sunken left temple, slight scar on right side of throat and a heart and arrow tattoo on his left forearm. He had followed the Salvation Army for some time. He met his wife at Acampo December 23, 1910, and married her a month later. He told her, she says, that he was born in Detroit, had foster parents living in Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bailey, and that he received mail from the East addressed to Theodore Lilley.

Complexion Fresh As a Daisy—Not a Wrinkle

in sight—Remarkable discovery of skin osmosis quickly enables women with sunken cheeks, wrinkles and marks of age again to become most beautiful, youthful and charming.

By Mlle. Mareix, France's Great Prize Beauty

It's wonderful to look beautiful and youthful. The Countess de Cheyenne, who at seventy years of age possesses a marvellously soft, smooth, velvet-like skin and an almost girl-like complexion without a wrinkle, told the writer personally in Paris that she owed it all to the discovery of skin osmosis. With this marvellous discovery every complexion can be banished in three nights in many instances, and you can awaken in the morning with a beautiful natural rose colored complexion fresh as a daisy.

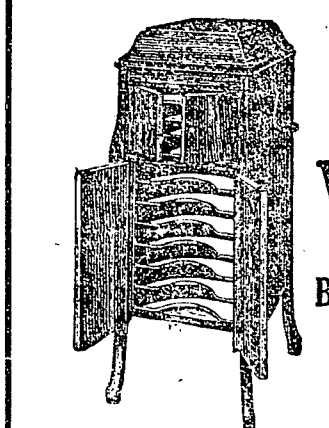

I have known dozens of hollow-cheeked, wrinkled, aged-looking women who have given up all hope of ever looking beautiful and youthful again, to "come back" and again become most beautiful, youthful and fascinating in from two to three weeks' time by this wonderful simple method.

No matter what your age or what you have tried unsuccessfully, skin osmosis will positively bring you new beauty and youth. Mysteriously wash your face in warm water at night and rub in a teaspoonful or two of any good pure roseated cream, which you can obtain from your druggist. In the morning wash the face with cold water and rub in more cream. In three weeks or less watch the magic transformation. See how the old, hardened, coarse, rough skin turns into new, fresh, soft, youthful looking skin almost before your very eyes, all due to simple skin osmosis produced solely by warm water and roseated cream. But be sure to use only pure roseated cream, as it is an entirely different thing from ordinary face creams and must not be confused with them. I personally prefer Creme Tokalon (Roseated), but any good brand will do. If you have wrinkles get a box of Japanese Ice Pencils and use them in connection with the cream and you get quick action on the deepest wrinkles, no matter of how long standing, in one or two days, and awaken on the morrow to witness most astonishing results.

I personally guarantee success in every case. If any of my newspaper articles which I write on subjects relating to beauty, or I will refund the amount paid for any products which I recommend, provided you take your dealer's receipt at the time you make your purchase. My American address is Simone Mareix, 20 West 23rd street, New York.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Creme Tokalon boasted such unbounded confidence in their particular brand that they offer to forfeit $200 to any charitable institution, if it can be shown that it will not banish every complexion blemish and give most astonishing new beauty to wrinkled, care-worn, aged women in three days' time. In many instances, it can be obtained solely fresh and guaranteed pure from Drug Dept. at Kabu's, or most any good druggist in this city.—Advertisement.

CHURCHMEN MEET IN 64TH SESSION

Methodist Episcopal Conference at Santa Cruz Opens Deliberations.

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 13.—The sixty-fourth session of the California Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church began this morning with 300 pastors and 1000 laymen in attendance. The men represented 25,000 Methodists north of the Tehachapi.

Bishop Adna W. Leonard of San Francisco presided. Following the roll call, a memorial service was held for ministers who had died since the last session. Those for whom the service was held included Rev. Leslie M. Burwell, Alameda; Rev. George Van Vleet, El Centro; Rev. Theodore Taylor, retired; Rev. High Copeland, retired, and Rev. Arthur Wright, College Park.

A reception was tendered last night to Bishop Leonard, who was formerly pastor of the First M. E. Church, Seattle. He was one of the new bishops consecrated at the M. E. conference held in Saratoga last year.

Addresses were made by Mayor Fred Howe, Rev. W. P. Benton, representing the churches of Santa Cruz, who spoke on matters of church and community interest.

"Drug Wing" Probed by Police Judges

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The "drug wing" of the county jail at Ingleside was the subject of investigation by a voluntary committee of Police Judges John J. Sullivan and Morris Oppenheim; James M. Oliver, attorney for the State Board of Pharmacy, and City Probation Officer William H. Nichols.

"Not at all satisfactory, but the best we can do," was the verdict of the committee regarding the commitment of the drug users to the jail.

Members of the committee primarily visited the county jail to see for themselves the effect of the treatment instituted by Sheriff Thomas Finn some time ago on the habitual drug users committed to the institution.

As a result of the visit the committee, according to Police Judge Oppenheim, is going to make an effort to interest the University of California at Berkeley in the University, with the purpose of having a clinic established.

U. S. Wants Data on Nippon Policy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Despite the assurances received yesterday from the Japanese foreign minister, the State Department is awaiting further advice from the American diplomats at Tokyo and Peking before arriving at a conclusion as to whether Japan's demands on China infringe on the sovereignty of that country and upon American rights there.

The progress of the negotiations between Japan and China over the demands will be carefully watched, officials said today.

The former vagueness regarding the demand that Japan be given police rights in South Manchuria and Eastern Mongolia has been favorably cleared up by the statement of the Japanese foreign office, it was said. The demand being only that Japanese police be stationed in towns where there are large Japanese settlements, the federal government Japanese control of that territory has been removed.

The progress of the negotiations between Japan and China over the demands will be carefully watched, officials said today.

The former vagueness regarding the demand that Japan be given police rights in South Manchuria and Eastern Mongolia has been favorably cleared up by the statement of the Japanese foreign office, it was said. The demand being only that Japanese police be stationed in towns where there are large Japanese settlements, the federal government Japanese control of that territory has been removed.

BURGLARS CRASH PAWNSHOP WINDOW

Gang Loots Place of Many Revolvers and Makes Escape.

Burglars worked boldly at Ninth street and Broadway early this morning, throwing a brick through the plate glass windows of the shop of J. Rishin, a pawn shop proprietor, and making away with a score of revolvers. There were no jewels or watches in the display window, but all the best weapons that were there were taken by the thieves.

The robbery was committed in a manner somewhat similar to that in which Jack Wolff made his daring attempt to burglarize a pawn shop at Eleventh street and Broadway several months ago, when Police Corporal H. J. Thornbury was shot in capturing the thief. Wolff rode up to the place in a motor car, smashed the window, and started to flee with a tray of diamonds he had just captured.

The police believe that the thieves who operated at Rishin's store this morning were the representatives of a band of professional burglars, owing to the fact that they took nothing but revolvers.

ANOTHER ARMY MAN FOR STATE GUARD

Virtually coincident with, announcement of the appointment of Captain Willis Hurlt, a regular army officer, to succeed Colonel Edward G. Hunt of Oakland, head of the fifth infantry, has come news of the appointment of a second army man to a high national guard office. Governor Johnson has named First Lieutenant A. B. Dockery of the Tenth Cavalry as major of the First California cavalry squadron.

The appointment is in the face of strong protests from guard officers who hold that veterans in the guard should be promoted to the higher offices as a reward for hard work in the organization. They hold that the action of the Governor stifles the ambition of the guard officers. The men directly under Lieutenant Dockery, however, approve his appointment.

WATERFRONT LEASES MAY BE SETTLED

City Makes Move to Take Actions Out of Court if Compromise Can Be Made With the Present Group of Holders

A possible peaceful solution of the waterfront lease tangle, whereby the city and the lessees may adjust their differences and end the existing litigation, will be discussed at a meeting to be held some time next week, Mayor John L. Davis was delegated by the council today to arrange the meeting, which was requested in a letter from a sub-committee of the harbor and legislative committees of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

City Attorney Paul C. Mott will be present at the meeting, as will all members of the city council. Representatives of the leased lands and members of the Chamber of Commerce will also attend the meeting, at which all phases of the controversy between the city and the lessees will be discussed.

"This will be an important meeting," Commissioner Harry S. Anderson told the council. "We may be able to adjust all of our differences out of the courts. The lessees wish to get our views and those of the city attorney on the matter, and it may be that the lands in controversy will be released under terms satisfactory to all concerned, and that the litigation now in the courts may be dropped."

Mott is now prosecuting suits in the Alameda county courts in an attempt to oust lessees of wharves, lands, which secured their leases through the now-famous agreement entered into by the city officials and private citizens prior to the adoption of the new charter in 1910. Mott's claim is that the city had no right, under the provisions of the state's grant of waterfront lands to Oakland, to lease these sites.

Should the city and the lessees settle their differences a controversy of many years' standing would be settled, probably for all time. The lands affected have been in litigation in one form or another ever since 1912.

CIRCUS PAGEANT DUE HERE FRIDAY

Barnum and Bailey's Array of Chariots to Parade Through City.

Without question the most popular form of pageantry with the masses of the people is the circus parade. It may be called rightfully the pageantic institution of this country; in other countries, particularly in monarchies, there is always the pageantry supplied by the coming and going of royalty and the passing of the innumerable and gorgeously uniformed regiments of soldiers, who make up the great standing armies of those countries. In this, our own beloved and isolated land, vast as is its expanse, there is, of course, no royalty, and there are comparatively so few soldiers that they are almost an unseen quantity in the majority of the cities and towns in the United States, so the people of the country have come to look upon the circus as the one thing that may be depended upon to supply attractive street display.

The parade given by Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth, which comes to Oakland Friday, is, as a matter of course, the largest of circus parades, and not only is it the largest, but it is the richest, most costly and most gorgeous. It may not be known generally that this parade contains the most massive, the most expensive and the most artistic wood carving extant in the United States. Four of the tableau cars represent the four corner allegorical groups that surround the Royal Albert Memorial, the finest example of statuary to be found in Great Britain, which was erected by the late Queen Victoria in memory of her late prince consort, Albert. These groups represent Europe, Asia, Africa and America. That great creative genius of the circus world, James A. Bailey, sent Cox, who for years has been the greatest of all wood-carvers in America, over to London to copy these groups, which he did with the consent of the late king. Inward and after making his models in clay Cox returned to New York, where he carved the groups out of solid wood. After being carved they were heavily plated with gold leaf. There are also several other specimens of the work of Cox in the parade, notably a tableau representing the United States and bearing the seals of the several states carved by Cox; also an Assyrian car covered with the antique statuary of that first of all civilized countries, and there is also another car representing Egypt, whose most distinctive feature is a row of ivory tusks. Of course, in addition to these there is the great array of golden chariots, animal dens, the marching bands of elephants and other beasts, numerous bands of music, including one mounted on horseback, and then the great assemblage of superb draught horses, making at once the finest horse show to be seen anywhere in America, and all this in free to anyone who cares to look upon it.

The circus will be held on grounds adjoining the Civic Auditorium.

To Urge Abolition of Capital Punishment

The opening meeting of the campaign for the abolition of capital punishment in this state will be held at Plymouth Center at 8 o'clock this evening. Rabbi Jacob Nieto, well known and famous as an orator throughout the state, will address the meeting. The rabbi is the president of the California Society for the Abolition of Capital Punishment for Northern California. It will be remembered that at the last session of the legislature a bill to abolish capital punishment in the state was lost by only one vote. Renewed efforts will be made at the coming session of the legislature to pass a bill that will finally abolish it.

The meeting is one of a series to be held throughout the state to arouse public interest in the question. The meeting will also be addressed by Rev. A. W. Palmer, pastor of Plymouth Church, made Christensen of San Francisco will preside.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1916.

ESTUARY BRIDGE HEARING.

Lieutenant Colonel Thomas H. Rees, representing the Secretary of War at yesterday's hearing upon the question of the inadequacy and obsolescence of the Webster and Harrison street bridges spanning the estuary, could not fail to be impressed by the strong and convincing case presented. The evidence adduced was unanswerable. Representatives of the municipalities, civic and commercial organizations; shipowners, shipbuilders and representatives of the shipbuilding and other industries, all testified that the present bridges obstruct and menace navigation, retard harbor development and are likely to prevent the construction on the east side of the bay of at least one of the big ships of the navy recently authorized by Congress.

While full and ample notice had been given it is significant that not a single individual appeared in opposition to the removal of these obstructions. Particularly gratifying was the announcement made on behalf of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which must share the expense of a new bridge, to the effect that while the company had no desire to alter present conditions, it would not offer objections in view of the apparent sentiment of the public that it was to the best interest of the localities affected that new bridges be constructed. The company should be commended for its attitude.

Considering the present and future development of this community no problem is more pressing. Existing conditions on the estuary are throttling commerce. Opportunity is today knocking louder at our doors than ever before. With an unanimity unprecedented the citizens of the east bay cities appeal to the Federal Government to order the removal of these obstructions to navigation. In appropriating large sums for the improvement of Oakland harbor the chief purpose of the government has been to aid navigation, and in line with that policy the authorities in Washington are not likely to countenance the continuance of conditions that hold back development and prevent the fullest utilization of an important waterway which the government has been the most important factor in improving.

EXPLANATIONS THAT FAIL TO EXPLAIN.

The futility of the attempts made by the Democratic campaign managers to explain away the sweeping Republican victory in Maine is so apparent to the unprejudiced observer that the only ones who are deceived by the specious juggling with hypothetical percentages are the Bourbons who are willing to be deluded. The device is as old as Julius Caesar's Commentaries on the Gallic Wars. Caesar was one of the most astute politicians who ever garnered plebeian votes, and his Commentaries were written in the field and despatched to Rome for the sole purpose of influencing popular sentiment in his favor. Consequently every battle with the Gauls was a victory for the Roman arms, and numbers counted for naught.

Like Caesar, the Democratic leaders look apprehensively at the results of Monday's election and then remark: "Although the enemy outnumbered us more than two to one, they are not so numerous as they were four years ago when we snatched victory out of an ostensible defeat. In an analysis of forces one Democrat is equivalent to two Republicans, and the seeming superiority is a figment." This is scarcely an exaggeration of the comments made by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, manager of the Western Democratic campaign, who said:

"The returns from Maine presage the election of Woodrow Wilson in November. An analysis of the figures points indubitably to this result. It may be concluded that Maine has gone Republican by about 12,000. Now, it was carried by that party in 1910 by a plurality of approximately 29,000, while the combined Republican and Progressive vote in 1912 exceeded the Democratic vote by about 24,000."

The plausibility of the argument that, because the Republican majority in Maine was once 25,000, a majority of only 15,000 foretells a Democratic vote for President within two months, is convincing only to those in whom the wish is father to the thought. The truth of the situation probably is that the Progressive vote returned to the fold in the present results of the Down East election. It was a straight Republican victory with no qualifying conditional phrases. The Republicans carried everything. The result was not mixed.

The Maine straw shows the direction in which the Progressive wind is blowing. The Democrats, who have been expecting that the Progressive adherents would cast their votes for President Wilson, may well lose heart at this indubitable sign. What has happened in the Pine Tree State will be duplicated in November in many another commonwealth.

CRISIS DEMANDS HUGHES.

Although estimates of the probable length of the war vary greatly, there has come to be a general agreement among military experts that it will not continue more than two, or at most, three years longer. That will mean that the end will come within the next administration of the government of this country.

As the most powerful of the neutral nations, the United States will almost certainly be asked to join in the council of nations at the close of the conflict, just as we were invited to participate in the conference of Algiers, although our interests were not directly involved. It is a right upon which this country would naturally insist, if it were not voluntarily accorded, as we are deeply concerned in many of the questions to be settled at this great council. Notably we are interested in new agreements as to international law regarding the rights of neutrals, submarine and aerial warfare, blockade, the freedom of the seas, and territorial settlements covering possessions bordering the Pacific ocean.

As was foreseen by foreign observers many years ago, the United States must accept a place of no mean importance in the concert of the nations by reason of the logic of historic development. A few statesmen of this country realized that "splendid isolation" has become a thing of the past. The present war brought this fact home to the people. It is reflected clearly in the widespread demand for industrial, commercial and military preparedness.

It is realized today as never before that the United States is entering upon a phase of history where a bold and statesmanlike front must be presented to the world in international dealing. Shilly-shally, it is felt, will not do. There must be a just appraisal of the needs and opportunities presented by any given situation, and a definite constructive policy must be decided upon as to the means of attaining the end sought.

In foreign relations the President stands as the directing power. It is felt today that in the coming four years of stress, the personality of the President will have a greater significance in the history of the nation than at perhaps any other period, with the exception of the years following the establishment of the States as a united government after the Revolution, and in the Civil War period.

It is because of this need of a strong man, a man whose face is turned toward the future, and whose feet are firmly placed in the facts of today, that thinking men are turning to Mr. Hughes. It is also because of this situation that the record of Mr. Wilson is being scanned so anxiously, and that so great an apprehension is felt when that record is properly understood. It is the record of a man, academically trained to regard the past and not the future, of a man who has stood aside to let things drift until the current set obviously in one direction, and then to follow; the record of opportunism in control of government and of timidity exercising the functions of a sovereign power.

The American people will not tolerate a continuance of this travesty of government. It is with hope of better things that they turn to Mr. Hughes, and listen to words whose simplicity and directness admit of no misunderstanding—words that have always in the past record of the speaker been backed by deeds.

It doesn't seem to be generally known that the University of California is developing at Riverside a citrus experiment station that is expected to surpass any institution of the kind in the world. The station embraces a tract of 4500 acres. It was recently purchased at a cost of $55,000, and $125,000 are to be expended in buildings and general preparation for the vastly important work to be done. Californians are reminded by this and other kindred enterprises that the State University is gaining a reputation as a very progressive institution of learning.

Villa is represented as having addressed the people of a Mexican town to the effect that he is able to pay his soldiers in silver; that he is sure to shortly have a very big army; and referring in terms of derision to the United States forces and the Carranzistas, which couldn't catch him even though he was sick abed. Which particulars, especially the last count, contains a little too much truth to be scoffed away. Anyhow, there appear to be grounds for belief that Villa is back from the grave, or the surgeon's knife, or wherever it was that he disappeared to.

The dollar went further in Oakland today than its meanderings have ever taken it. Up one business street and down the other it rolled into bargains. Merchandising records were made and broken. Old "high-cost-of-living" took to the alleys. "Cost-of-high-living" was out of town. Dollar was king of the highway.

NOTES and COMMENT

"Hale defeats Senator Johnson." But that is way down in Maine, which is a good way from here.

The editor of the Tracy Press is puzzled: "Don't understand just why a Stockton paper is running the political cards in the same column with the undertakers' cards."

Let us do honor to Nor Kahn, the Afghanistan. He traveled all the way from Los Angeles to Gridley to repay $10 that had been overpaid him two years before. Such a sense of honor as that is almost uncanny.

We read a mercantile announcement that descants on "vigorous clothes." Particulars include a reference to "soulful stripes." Upon reading of such garments one can almost hear them approach.

It was thought that the standard joke of being wounded by a custard pie was a pure myth, but here is a San Francisco woman who claims to have suffered that way and who wants a divorce. Truth is sometimes at least as strong as fiction.

The President's secretary has written that he will not be able to open the ball to be given at the Auditorium Thursday night. The news from Maine indicates that he may not be able to open the big dance to take place in Washington next March.

There was a lot of round-about discussion by the bakers of the country before what they were driving at came out. The Chicago bakers have about decided to reduce the size of loaves one-third. That is considered easier than raising the price or abolishing the five-cent loaf.

It has happened before, but nobody has ever explained how a man can shoot into a crowd and not hit anybody, or inflict only a casual wound. The reverse is just as mysterious—how a gun can tumble down from its position and shoot in a vital place the only person anywhere near.

We are greatly tickled that, although the effort to induce the other twenty-six Oaklanders to get off the map failed, it caused a fine row at Pine Bluff, Arkansas. A Pine Bluff paper published a letter detailing what the people of Oakland (Ark.) said about it, and the trouble was on.

Profane subject delicately handled by the Kansas City Star: "The stature of O. Hell does not top the five feet four minimum required by the United States Army, as the army recruiting station at Wichita, Kan., defeated Mr. Hell's efforts last week. Mr. Hell's full name is Otto Hell, but he is called O. Hell for short."

The bridge builders of Canada have hard luck with their big spans across the St. Lawrence. The second attempt was a disastrous failure, involving death and enormous loss. Would Yankee gumption have got away with it? No such catastrophe is of record in this land, that is bridged from one end to the other.

It will be a surprise to many that notwithstanding the chaos in Mexico, practically all railway lines are being operated, according to information furnished the joint commission. The explanation must be that all the factions at one time or another need transportation, and find it advantageous to keep the lines open.

Pre-adjournment condolence from the Oakland Tribune: "Truly these are melancholy days for Congressmen. With fences sadly in need of repairs and dangerous questions holding them in the Washington spotlight, political prospects take on shades of gloom that 'harrow up the soul.' The joyride of yesterday may become a funeral tomorrow."

The Bakersfield Echo cites an unique parallel: "David Starr Jordan's predictions about peace in six months are a good deal like the Bryan campaigns—they were winners months before the election. Much as the world would like to see peace in six months or even assurance that it would be signed within a year, the war clouds over Europe are not lifting."

The Appeal is worried about what to feed the editors shortly to gather at Marysville: "The Northern California Editorial Association is going to meet in Marysville September 23. The Chamber of Commerce is going to give the editors a big banquet. What will the editors be fed? If it were a convention of the Presiding Elders we'd suggest chicken, but we can't afford to scare our guests to death. Perhaps some good corned-beef and cabbage with plenty of vinegar would be appropriate."

Driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor is a costly business in Lompoc. The first hitch in the matter of the thirty days' time off, with pay, a year for navy yard workmen developed yesterday when reports were wired that no money had been appropriated to cover the cost of the increased vacations. It had been understood that the new rule was to become effective September 1.—Vallejo Times.

MAINE HAS AN ELECTION

EXPERIENCES FROM REAL LIFE

Ever try to have a lawn? Ever live in a bungalow, on a corner, a yard's distance from the edge of the concrete sidewalk? Imagine you have just moved in. The place heretofore has been grossly neglected—you will have this desert corner blossom like the rose. You are immensely enthused. North to the store for a rake, hoe and hose. You work like a Trojan. Remove litter, rocks, bits of glass, dead twigs and leaves galore. That hedge of geraniums looks alive now. Then you resolutely set yourself to the task of making the lawn. You begin right after supper—you weed and hoe for an hour—then you rake for another hour. Twilight comes on, but you "peg away" as becomes a worthy Scot. You cover the well-tilled loam with fertilizer, sprinkle grass seed bountifully and then erect a wall of defense against your labor—several strong stakes and several strands of string. Next, you turn on the hose and do justly by the water company for a good half hour. At ten o'clock you have earned the reward of a good and faithful servant and enter into your rest with joy. During breakfast, next morning, you triumphantly exclaim, "Just watch your lawn grow." Alas! that evening you behold the ravages of some animals orimps of children. The string is gone, the stakes are down—everything has been mauled. Undaunted, your courage slightly weaker, however, you realize the depth of meaning in Burns' words, "The best laid plans of mice and men gang at a-glee," and again you erect stakes, using cord this time for connections. The following afternoon a motorcycle takes a "short-cut" over your would-be lawn and once more stakes and cord are wrecked. Savagely you quote, "The third time always succeeds," and silently drive the stakes deeper and tie the wire very tightly. Day dawns and one of the neighbor's boys, exploring the vicinity of your dwelling, announces to himself, "Gee, that wire will be just right for my coaster," and breakfast you gaze on the lonely stakes. What is the use? You growl with righteous indignation. Ah! happy thought. Tonight I shall cover this corner with garbs and in a short time no one will disturb our fine green lawn. GREAT ART GIFT TO THE NATION

In a vague way there is a general knowledge among those interested in the development of art in the United States that the nation, through the Smithsonian Institution (National Gallery), is the owner of a great collection of Oriental art objects, brought together and presented to the public by Charles L. Freer of Detroit. The range and contents of the collection, its purposes and opportunities—in a word, its meaning—are less clearly understood, notwithstanding that the collector has loaned generously to various exhibitions and permitted special students access to his treasured accumulations.

The government authorities having not long ago designated the site, on the Mall, for the building which the donor himself provides to house the collection, donor and architect together are now planning the details of the museum that is to open new fields of study, to which limits may hardly be set.

Egypt, Babylonia, Assyria, Mesopotamia, Persia, China, Korea, Japan—the history of the ancient world recorded by itself, preserved by Mother Earth and in temples, palaces, tombs and the treasures of chests of Celestial generations; a history written in terms of art and of domestic and political life, in objects of daily use enhanced and exalted by the imaginative, the creative, mind and skill of the artist and the artisan. This history the museum is to open to scholar and artist, to specialist and public, preferring to all the elevating influences of ancient attainments by diverse peoples, for the encouragement and expansion of kindred sympathetic workers where—where an all-inclusive diversity is yet to be assimilated, amalgamated, and to find its true expression in art.

"A thing of use made beautiful" is a favorite definition of a work of art with Mr. Freer, and he has sought to form "an intellectual collection of beautiful objects." Such, indeed, it is, evoking visions for the higher capacities, as well as pleasing the eye with an object of the moment and suggesting beauty to the craftsman. Aesthetic delight, the pleasure of historical review of man in early civilizations, and stimulation to greater beauty in the intimate surroundings of life—all potential in a single institution. —From "The Field of Art," in the September Sorbner.

THE JESTER.

Broke Silence Rule. A new story is being told about a certain London club, famed internationally for both its exclusiveness and its dullness.

In one of the rooms a rule of silence is stringently enforced, any necessary order to a waiter having to be given in a whisper. The other day occupants of the room were startled to see a member press a bell button with evident annoyance, and when the waiter appeared to hear him exclaim, pointing to a neighbor in a chair: "Walter, remove that member!"

The man in the chair had been dead three days.—Exchange.

Justified. "Look here, Snip," said Slowpay, indignantly, to his tailor, "you haven't put any pockets in these trousers." "No, Mr. Slowpay," said the tailor, with a sigh, "I judged from your account here that you never had anything to put in them."—Harper's Weekly.

He Knew. Minister—Young man, do you know the price of the pursuit of pleasure? Blacksmith Jr.—Yes, sir! Thirty cents the first mile and 10 cents for every half mile after that.—Lampoon.

Unequal Contest. Jaasper—Many a wise word is spoken in jest. Jumpuppe—Yes, but they can't compare with the number of foolish ones that are spoken in earnest.—Life.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

There was an interesting ceremony this afternoon at the synagogue, Betti Jacob, corner of Harrison and Fourth streets, when a new Holy Scroll was dedicated. The scroll was presented to the congregation by Mr. and Mrs. A. Barovich on their return from Europe.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Herbert F. Kellogg of this city and Miss Marie Miller Jackson Tuesday evening, September 22, at Hyde Park, M. E. Church, Chicago.

Health Officer Dr. Bradley visited the dumps this morning and found them in such an insanitary condition that he believes the $3800 paid yearly for the removal of garbage could be saved without jeopardizing health further than it is at present.

The members of Interior suffrage clubs have refused to work under the new officers elected by the Alameda County Political Equality Association and the suffrage campaign in Livermore is at a standstill.

SHIP AHOY! A NAVAL BATTLE!

General Charles H. Cole is undoubtedly the choice of the Democratic state machine for the nomination for governor. That may or may not be a help to the recent adjutant general, but at any rate it will not bring him the honor unopposed. Former State Treasurer Mansfield will make a strong bid for it and he will have the support of thousands of his fellow Democrats. As intimated some time ago, it will be another contest of the Mayflower and the Cephalonia.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

FACTS ABOUT ESPERANTO.

To the Editor of The Tribune: In a recent issue of THE TRIBUNE, there appeared an item which quotes me as claiming that there are 25,000,000 Esperantists in the world. This should have read 2,500,000, which is a conservative estimate.

Volapuk may be contrasted, but not compared, with Esperanto; the former is a wholly "artificial" language, and has become obsolete for that very reason, while the latter is composed of elements common to the languages most in use, and may justly be termed a "natural" language, as its vocabulary is made up from words most in international use; its grammar is simple, logical, without irregularities or exceptions, and is easily comprehended and mastered.

Esperanto is now being taught and employed in the prison and internment camps in Europe, so that all may possess a "common" tongue, and not be compelled to acquire a variety of languages, and the allies are favorably considering the adoption of Esperanto for international purposes, to the same end. War bulletins and "Our Side of the Case" statements have been issued in Esperanto by various of the belligerents engaged in the war.

As a "passport," and for purposes of travel in any country, it is invaluable. By means of the services freely afforded by the "Universal Esperanto Association," which has representatives in all parts of the world, one may save from ten to fifty per cent in his traveling expenses, and readily obtains access to places and institutions which are often "closed books" to the non-Esperantist traveler.

In brief, Esperanto is beyond compare for international correspondence, business and travel purposes. H. W. YEMANS, President Esperanto Association of North America, San Francisco, Cal.

BLOOMING.

It's better to bloom in a narrow lane. Where the sunbeams seldom fall, Than never to rather of all that's rich The spirit to bloom at all. The courage to spread just a little way The pinions you were given. To fold and to keep by your side like clay Or wing to the golden heaven.

It's better to sing in a silent place. Where the need of song is sad, Than never to spread or sing or wing To help the world grow glad. Than never to lend to a single heart The cheer of a simple lay. That dreams may rise and the shadows part. And the hopes come back to stay.

It's better to tell in a humble spot Than never to serve or save. A heart that thinks it has been forgot And must go down 'neath the wave. For out of the soil That you till with love, Of the service you give for those Who have broken their faith in a heaven above.

Life gains the loveliest roses. —Baltimore American.

"FIRST IN A VILLAGE"

One reason for the attitude taken by some of the leased lines of the Boston & Maine is that some officials hate to give up the petty offices they have been holding and the salaries that go with them. Of course all of the leased lines maintain their corporate existence and have presidents and directors. In case of a consolidation these officials will be merely stockholders.—Portland Press.

Brilliant with many little golden flowers and the waxen loveliness of blue hydrangeas in the light of candles, St. Clement's Chapel in Claremont presented a picturesque scene last night at the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Page and Ralph Gorrell, a wedding that brought several hundred guests from both sides of the bay.

This ceremony, one of much interest to society in Berkeley especially, was also one of exceptional beauty. The charming bride, the daughter of Mrs. Wilford Page, had chosen a scheme of turquoise blue and gold that proved extremely effective as background for her blonde litheness. The altar, flanked by silver and green woodstock ferns, had been erected before a curtain of pure white that had a most remarkable effect with the flames of candles in great brass sticks gleaming up before it, and with the simple masses of small sunflowers in great brass vases.

All of the three attendants of the bride—three of the favorites of Berkeley's younger set—were gowned in turquoise blue, carrying for contrast round, old-fashioned bouquets of yellow flowers. Miss Marjorie Page, the maid of honor, was in turquoise blue satin, a frock with a long, straight medieval waist and a skirt revealing a charming underfrill of silver lace. Butterfly-like sleeves and silver completed the detail of the bodice. Both bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Edinger and Miss Mary Stillman, wore similar frocks, fashioned of turquoise blue net over silver cloth.

The bride, who was given away by her older brother, Wilford Page, was a slim figure in a frock of white satin with the diaphanous tulle of her bridal veil floating down into a border of orange blossoms. Like those of her attendants, her gown had been constructed with a long, straight corsetage, and the sleeves were of tulle to the wrist.

Rev. Augustus Martyr officiated. Miller Hotchkiss as best man, with Edgar Whitlock and Roy Page as the ushers, completed the wedding party, who afterward were guests at a wedding supper at the Page home in College avenue. There was no reception and afterward the young people left for a motor tour in the mountains, planning to be home about the middle of October.

For several seasons the bride and groom have been popular members of the younger set of society and of the exclusive dancing club of Berkeley. Mrs. Gorrell graduated last year from the University of California where she was affiliated with the Kappa Alpha Thetas. Ralph Gorrell was a member of the class of 1908 and of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He is the son of Mrs. Charles Gorrell of this city.

Mrs. James Von Loben Sels (Edith Page), a sister of the bride, came down from the north to attend the wedding and is the guest of her mother in Berkeley.

The big card party that has been brewing for weeks for the benefit of St. Paul's parish house, will be an important event of tonight. The party, which is expected to draw more of the prominent matrons of society are entertaining at tables of bridge, and a number of the "sub-debutantes" still will send bouquets throughout the session of cards.

So many tables were reserved a week or more ago, that the final names of the card party was assured some time ago; and the group that has been energetically engineering the affair expects to see the building operations for the parish house started next week.

This enterprising committee is headed by Mrs. Frank A. Miller, and includes Mrs. Robert Hillard Collins, Mrs. Nicholas Acker, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, Mrs. Harrison Clay, Mrs. Harry East Miller, Mrs. Edith M. Crockett, Mrs. H. H. Wood, Mrs. Joseph Warner and several others. Mrs. William High and Mrs. Newton Koser have taken an extremely active and disposed of a great many of the tables.

The Sequoyah Country Club links were bright with sport and the veranda of the clubhouse was animated with gay figures yesterday at the regular "ladies day," numbers of parties motoring out for the day for a leisurely trip at the club. A group of matrons of society who are largely responsible for the fact that the first big benefit of the season—the card party tomorrow at Hotel Oakland for St. Paul's Parish House—is in advance a brilliant success. From left to right they are: Mrs. Joe Warner, Mrs. Newton Koser, Mrs. Frank Avery and Mrs. Vernon Waldron.

are "regulars" were conspicuous among those entertaining guests: Mrs. W. S. Theem, Mrs. J. M. Alwell, Mrs. J. P. Smith, Mrs. George O'Brien and several others.

Many of the intellectuals of society known to be deeply interested in the card party, were also present. Mrs. Mary Widemann, who several years ago, as Mrs. Mary Fairweather, extended her highly magnetic personality as a lecturer over a wide circle of exclusives.

Mrs. Widemann, whose daughter is Mrs. Paul Havens (Rosalind Fairweather), is very well known on both sides of the bay, as well as elsewhere in California for her gifts as a writer and lecturer. She is at present planning to spend the autumn at the Claremont Hotel and tomorrow began a lecture course with a talk on the symbolism of Percy Mackay's drama "Calliban of the Golden Sands," written for New York's great Shakespearean festival of last April.

This lecture, given in the west assembly hall of the Perla apartments, was attended by a group including Mrs. Geo. Nussbaum, Mrs. A. F. Coffin, Mrs. Frank Havens, Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith, Mrs. L. G. Freeman, Mrs. Nalin Langstroth, Mrs. Arthur Fickenscher, Mrs. J. H. Wood, Mrs. George E. Perkins and many others.

Two dozen of the younger set were the guests of Miss Edith Wilson this afternoon at an informal tea given at the Wilson home in Exton avenue as a compliment to Miss Florence Mallett, who is enjoying a whirl of pre-nuptial gaieties before her marriage next month.

Among those who called were Miss Florence Mallett, Miss Holly Mallett, Miss Katherine Bousfield, Miss Dorothy Burtchell, Miss Ruby Boardman, Miss Marion Bachman, Miss Adele Scott, Miss Alice M. Crockett, Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Mrs. Chesley John Roberts, Miss Sylvia Conklin, Miss Sybil Conklin, Miss Claire Holt, Miss Alice Finch, Miss Ruth Griffith and many others.

Miss Wilson will be a hostess again this week at a similar informal affair, entertaining a score or so next Friday afternoon.

The visit of Mrs. William Blasigame of Fresno, which concluded with her departure today for her home, was a most enjoyable one. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Frank W. Simpson last evening in Avalon street, Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schnaeffer and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hand, together with the Simpsons, were hosts at this affair, entertaining jointly fifty or so guests, principally from Claremont and Berkeley and mostly of the married contingent. The guest list included:

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Piper, Mr. and Mrs. John Piper, Mr. and Mrs. John Piper, Mr. and Mrs. George Mallett, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Holabird, Miss Betty Green, Miss Edith Nelson and several score more.

Mrs. Blasigame has been spending several weeks in Berkeley as the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Roy Hand, and during her stay has been the motif of a number of enjoyable affairs.

A unique festivity to be given next Friday evening at the Claremont Club is a "Chinese party" at which Mrs. Harry J. McGowan and Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Sims will entertain a hundred or more guests.

Cards printed in Chinese characters—slightly modified—announced the event, and the guests are requested to come in costume and en masse. The hosts will be in gorgeous Oriental guise to greet the gathering.

In honor of Madame Eileen O'Moore, who has just returned from four years of concert work with her violin abroad, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Richardson will give a large reception next Saturday evening at the Hillside clubhouse in Berkeley. This will be a function of considerable interest to the musical set about the bay as well as to many others, and several hundred have been bidden to meet the gifted musician.

October appears to be the favorite month for the autumn charity events, for now it is announced that the big charity ball for Providence Hospital always an important benefit each winter—is to be given on the evening of October 20 at Hotel Oakland.

Mrs. P. P. Hogan, who has been largely responsible for the manner in which these balls have succeeded in the past few years, is once more in direction, and the usual committee of prominent matrons who are actively interested in the hospital's good works to help her.

Among the recent weddings across the bay, of interest to this side as well, was that of Miss Helen Shea and William B. Euler last week at the rectory of St. Mary's Cathedral. The bride is one of the younger players of the Pacific Golf Club, and one of the musicians of the Munsel Club as well. Mr. Euler, now a prominent business man in San Francisco, is a former student of that University of California and a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, having graduated with the class of 1905.

After their return from their honeymoon the young people will reside in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Snyder, their daughters, Miss Suzanne and Mayo Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Devan, John, Mrs. Henry A. Melvin, Mrs. Edgar P. Stone, Miss Allison Stone, Edgar H. Stone, Miss Mary Stone, were among the Oaklanders who spent the last week-end at Mt. Diablo park and Country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Gray of Ukiah, and Mrs. Julia Frances Gray were week-end guests.

Others registered in the club were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Spear, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Loring, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Russell, Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A.

Callo-Bedtime Story

"Uncle Wiggly, do you mind if I have a game of ball on your farm today?" asked little Bushytail, the squirrel boy, of the rabbit gentleman one morning as the bunny was standing on the front porch of his hollow stump farmhouse.

"Play ball all you like," answered Mr. Longears. "Just don't trample down my corn or beans, and all I ask in return is that you be careful." Promised little Wiggly says it's all right.

"Come on, fellows," he called. "Let's Wiggly says it's all right."

Running, hopping or jumping, according to what they could best do, along came Sammie Littleall, the rabbit; Johnnie who was a brother to little Bushytail; Bully and Bawly No-Tail; the two frogs; Billie Wagtail, the goat; Jackie and Patsy Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, and many others.

"We'll have a fine game of ball on Uncle Wiggly's farm!" they cried.

"Hurrah, hurrah!"

"Ah, it's nice to be young and enjoy life," thought the bunny uncle to himself. "As I have nothing particular to do on my farm today, I'll go over and watch those chaps play ball."

And perhaps they'll let you bat the ball once or twice, Wiggly thought. Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzys, the muskrat lady housekeeper, with a smile that made her whiskers sort of waltz around in a circle.

"Oh, nonsense!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly, sort of dignified like and objecting. "I'm far too old for ball playing. But I can watch the boys."

Nurse Jane sort of smiled to herself as Uncle Wiggly hoped off and he felt so spry, not to say jaunty, that he just swung his red, white and blue striped rhinoceros mane around his head, like a trum major, and of course he did it.

In a little while Uncle Wiggly came to the ball field. He could hear the boys shouting and laughing, and he felt nearer.

"Knock a home run!" someone cried.

"Come on in! Come on in! Don't stay on the base all day!"

"Put him out! Tag him with the ball!" came a shout from a third boy.

"Oh, they are having fine fun!" thought Uncle Wiggly, as he hopped nearer.

Just then there was a cracking sound and he looked up, the bunny uncle saw a ball in the air coming toward him.

"Oh, I must catch that!" Uncle Wiggly cried. Dropping his rhinoceros mane, he put up his two paws and into them dropped the ball.

"You're out, Billie Bushytail!" cried Jackie.

"Well, I guess if you want me to I'll be there," said the rabbit gentleman, laughing.

"Then he's got to be on our side part of the time, too," Billie Bushytail said, as he dropped his hat.

"All right, I will," promised the bunny uncle. "What would Nurse Jane say if she could see me now?" he asked himself.

"She'd say I was a regular boy!" and indeed the bunny uncle was, for he loved to play with children. So he began batting the ball and running after it the same as did the others.

Finally it was Peetle Bow Wow's turn to take a bat, or long round stick and try to hit the ball that Jimmie Wiggly wiggled the duck chap, tossed to him. Uncle Wiggly was out among the daisies in the far field, ready to catch the ball if it came his way.

Stoip, Miss Carmen Stoip, Piedmont; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McNear, Cyril Hill, Near Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Hill Tilton, Claremont; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Conter, San Francisco; Dr. Thomas H. Winslow, Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hink, Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. W. Gogball, San Francisco; Gertrude M. Allen, Riverside, R. I.; Miss Stella R. Clemence, Providence, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. George C. Browne and party of Berkeley; Mrs. M. J. Sanders, Seattle; Mrs. Frances Wendt, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Barnhart, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Oakland.

In a jolly week-end party were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tanner and Mr. and Mrs. George O'Brien.

Colonel and Mrs. L. R. Burgess, accompanied by their children, are houseguests at the home of Mrs. Burgess' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. Davis, and are being welcomed by many former friends. Their stay is to extend into the early part of next month, when they will leave for their new station at Port Perry, Long Island Sound. For the past three years the Burgesss have been at Port Perry, San Francisco, and their departure is much regretted.

At Christ Episcopal Church of Alameda last night was solemnized the wedding of Miss Fern Estelle Hogan of Piedmont and John C. Seargrave in the presence of a large number of friends. Rev. Everett W. Cooper, rector of Christ Church, officiated.

This was another of the pink weddings, and the church was decorated with masses of pink dahlias and asters to honor the gown of the attendant of the bride, Miss Addie Conkle, as maid of honor. The other members of the bridal party were Frank Pollard, the best man; Irving Chivers, Gerald Goldthorn, Mandell Larkin and William Hewes.

The bride is the daughter of Eugene F. Hogan of Claremont, and had been considerably flattered when the announcement of her engagement.

Phi Beta Kappa Is Too Feminine

Rush of Women Cause Secretary Concern

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—Recommendation that measures be taken to curtail the yearly admission of women to membership in the Phi Beta Kappa was made in the report of the secretary, Rev. Oscar M. Voorhees, submitted to the triennial council of the society here yesterday. The recommendation, the report said, was based upon the fact that of those admitted to membership in the last few years about one-half were women.

"The reputation of the society," said the report, "will rest in years to come upon the work of those whom we now are electing to membership. It will be generally conceded, I think, that a larger share of its reputation must come from its men than from its women members."

The report was placed in the hands of a committee and will be acted upon by the council later. More than 300 delegates representing colleges and universities in all sections of the country are in attendance at the council. The meetings are being held at the University of Pennsylvania.

Thank you very much." Then the old well was covered with boards so no one else would fall in and the ball game went on and Uncle Wiggly made a home run. So if the church bell doesn't squeeze all the water out of the bath room sponge and the cake of soap has no place to get a drink, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and the monkey's coat.

"Hi! Trouble! Then I am just in time to see a new voice. What's the matter?"

"Oh, it's the bad old fall-pulling chim, paunce, and he's after Uncle Wiggly!" exclaimed Sammie, a the top of the well.

"Yes, I am after him, but only to help him," said the chim, as I call him for short. Like the cat, the alligator and the baboon, I have turned good. I have been looking for Uncle Wiggly to tell him that and for a chance to catch him in favor, and now I have it! Which me!

The chimpanzee monkey hung by his hind paws, or feet, to a tree branch on the edge of the well. Then he let himself hang down in the big, round hole, and, reaching his front paws to Uncle Wiggly, he quickly pulled the bunny gentleman out of the well as easily as anything.

"Now do you believe I have turned good?"

"Yes, said Uncle Wiggly, "I do."

MOTOR CAR DEMAND STILL INCREASING

Birthday of New Motor Motif for Celebration by Auto Dealers.

By EDMUND CRINNION.

August is not usually a record-breaking month from the factory standpoint, but nevertheless the month that has just closed won that distinction for the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company. August, 1916, for the Paige not only was the best month of the year, but it surpassed in volume of business the record of any other month in the entire history of the company.

The amount of business transacted in the 31 days totaled $2,020,200, which is a pretty fair indication of several things—how the Paige Sixes stand with the public, the success the factory has attained in solving production and meeting the demand and as a reflection on the general state of the industry.

The figures quoted, however, do not tell the whole story. The demand for immediate shipment was much larger than the total volume of business indicates. It was necessary to hold up orders for 1917 cars and place the delivery of these cars in September. This and the fact that September orders are piling up with great rapidity indicate that the record made in August for total volume of business will not stand for long.

Aitken Wins on Goodrich Tires

Another clean cut victory was scored by Goodrich Silvertown Cord Tires at the 100-mile Harvest Auto Classic at Indianapolis, when the first seven cars which finished all made nonstop records. All seven were equipped with Silvertowns.

This information was contained in a telegram just received by C. E. Cook, coast manager of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, 401 Mission street, San Francisco, and reading as follows:

"One hundred mile Harvest Auto Classic won by John Aitken Peugeot. Second, Hughie Hughes, Hoskins special. Third, Wilbur Dalene, Dusenberg. Fourth, George Buzzana, Dusenberg. Fifth, Dave Lewis, Freider. Sixth, Omar Toft, Omar special. Seventh, Pete Henderson, Maxwell. All nonstops and every car on Silvertowns. Time, one hour, seven minutes and five seconds."

John Aitken also won fifty-mile race, time, thirty-two minutes twenty-eight seconds; and twenty-mile race, time, twelve minutes and thirty-seven seconds. There were also nonstop on Silvertown Cord Tires.

"The performance of John Aitken in his Peugeot," says Cook, "is of unusual interest in view of the fact that in the Labor Day races in Cincinnati he used tires of another make but in Saturday's races he returned to 'Safety First' for he has been using Silvertown Cord Tires all the season in all of his important races."

BIRTHDAY OF MOTOR.

A nation-wide Birthday Celebration in which 1500 Chalmers distributors and dealers will act as hosts, is announced for September 30, by F. B. Willis, sales manager of the Chalmers Motor Company.

The occasion for the monster celebration is the first anniversary of the announcement of the 3400 R. P. M. Chalmers Six-30. Just a year ago, Chief Engineer Hinckley turned over the thoroughly tested model car to the Chalmers manufacturing department. Since that time 25,000 Chalmers Six-30's have been delivered and are now giving perfect satisfaction in the hands of owners. The Chalmers Six-30 has achieved the enviable record of 92.1 per cent perfect service in its year of life.

"We thought it fitting that our dealers should recognize in some way, the first birthday of the most famous Chalmers car ever built," says Mr. Willis. "Our sales promotion department hit upon the scheme of a general reception at the establishments of all Chalmers dealers. On Saturday, September 30, our sales rooms will be fittingly decorated and open house for Chalmers owners and the public will be the order of the day. Music, refreshments and other features of a regular birthday party will feature the reception."

In addition to the reception, the victors in the larger cities will have the first opportunity to inspect the latest Chalmers closed car models which have just been announced. The new closed cars, including the touring sedan, limousine, town car, and cabriolet are all fitted to the standard 3400 R. P. M. chassis and are rated among the smartest models making their appearance this fall.

Lady Duff Gordon, the famous style authority of New York city has designed the interiors for all Chalmers closed cars for the coming season. She has personally selected all hangings, upholstery and trimmings for these cars and has guaranteed their exclusiveness among American built cars.

NEW BOY IN TOWN.

On Saturday, September 9, Admission Day, there came to the home of Clyde Reese, in Oakland, a new arrival. Said arrival—a boy—brought with him sunshine and smiles. He is the second child in the family but expects in the very near future to lord it over his sister. Both Mrs. Reese and young man Reese are doing well. Duddy Reese divided his time yesterday along auto row receiving congratulations and figuring how to meet the demand for Buick cars.

NEW COMER ON AUTO ROW.

An addition to the Studebaker forces in the bay cities is expected in the arrival of George Rust Jr., at Providence Hospital on the morning of September 4. The young man is the first youngster of the family and George Rust is now hunting to sell two Studebakers where he sold one before. "Have to buy shoes for the baby," says George.

THE BETTER THE HOPS THE BETTER THE BEER FLAVOR

ANHEUSER-BUSCH have by many thousands of pounds more Saazer Hops in their giant storage houses than has any other brewery in Europe or America. Before the war our President, while abroad on his annual hop-buying pilgrimage, bought 775,000 pounds (1550 bales) of Bohemia's very finest Saazer Hops. To this add the 500,000 pounds we had on hand, and you will see that we can guarantee our millions of patrons that BUDWEISER will continue, as always, to have the same exclusive Saazer Hop flavor which has helped its sales to exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.
